

Contract Manufacturing Request

GPS Extender

Get better reach when outside GPS' range, such as in large buildings, deep canyons or underground. Three point location identifiers are added onto GPS systems. GPS locates the building. Then the extender identifies target within the building. Inventions provide 100's of creative uses for this information in consumer and business applications.

What It Does: Builds on locations identified by GPS systems to identify targets within a building.

